WINNIPEG, June 13.

In the second Canadian rifle league competition, on Saturday, the Amherst rifle association and the Guelph Field artillery made the highest scores, 790 each.

Mrs. Carruthers, charged with murdering her husband, at Rainy river; has been found not guilty by a Port Arthur jury.

LOCAL.

R. SECORD left for the Landing on Thursday of last week.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ROYAL arrived on Thursday's train.

THE festival of St. Jean Baptiste will be celebrated at St. Albert, on Saturday, June 25th.

F. PAGERIE, of Fort Saskatchewan, recently of the Alberta Hotel, Edmonton, is seriously ill.

N. D. BECK is erecting a dwelling on Fifth street, H. B. property. F. H. Peters, contractor.

REV. J. GOUGH BRICK, of Peace river, preached morning and evening in All Saints' church on Sunday.

MRS. KELLY and Miss Kelly, mother and sister of Luke and Jos. Kelly, Edmonton, left for Chicago on Friday's train.

THE meeting on Wednesday evening last to consider the question of sports on July 1st, was so poorly attended that it was adjourned indefinitely.

ISAAC HUNTER, of the BULLETIN office, caught three young cross foxes alive in a pile of rails at his claim, Sturgeon river settlement, on Sunday. They are as large as cats.

A. R. CODE, government immigration agent, arrived on Thursday's train with a large party of land prospectors from Michigan. They were very much pleased with the Battle river and Peace Hills country as they passed through on the train, and took the train on Friday to inspect that district closely.

REV. MR. HOLMES and Mrs. Holmes left for Lesser Slave lake, by way of Athabasca Landing, on Saturday. They were accompanied by Mr. Stocken, teacher on the Saree reserve, Miss Hilda Round, daughter of H. B. Round, of the H. B. Co.'s service, Peace river, and Miss Gee, just arrived from England.

PERTH EXPOSITOR: Mr John Ritchie has gone up to Edmonton to erect a first-class roller mill, and Mr. David Nicholson, carpenter, has gone up to work with him. The Edmonton people are to be congratulated on having such energetic and responsible business men to take hold of the mill, and they can rely on getting good satisfaction and a square deal every time. Messrs. Ritchie are old residents and business men in the neighborhood of Perth, and whatever they undertake they carry out.

M. MCKINNON arrived on Thursday's train, from Owen Sound, Ont., with a carload of driving horses for sale. Mr. McKinnon left Ontario on May 26th and came through to Edmonton direct. He says that after allowing for the time taken on the trip, the season at Edmonton is from two to three weeks further advanced than in either Ontario or Manitoba. In both provinces spring offered to open early, but there was a long delay caused by cold, wet weather. Farmers in Manitoba and all along the line were still seeding as he passed. Thousands of acres are being put in on stubble with disc harrows, and other thousands will not be put in at all, as it will not be possible to get it sown in time. At Moosomin the trees were only beginning to bud.

CARON & SARRAZIN have arranged with the H. B. Co. to take the whole product of their creamery for this season. The first lot has been received and is up to the creamery standard.

At a meeting held in South Edmonton, on Friday, June 10th, for the purpose of discussing the question of building a church. It was moved and carried unanimously that a Methodist church, 30x40, should be erected at a cost not to exceed $700. The several necessary committees were appointed and the church is expected to go on at once.

A MEETING was held in Fielders hall, on Saturday evening, to consider the question of sports on July 1st. There was a good attendance; Mayor McCauley, chairman. It was unanimously decided to have sports on the 1st, and a sports committee was formed: President, Mayor McCauley; vice-president, John Looby; secretary-treasurer, F. D. Fortin. The various sub-committees were appointed and will meet to-night to take action. The secretary-treasurer was instructed to see Mr. Gregg, the station agent, regarding a low railway rate from Calgary on the 1st.

THE cheese factories of Messrs. Doray & Bou-lais, at St. Albert, and at Paradis' farm, near Fort Saskatchewan, are now in full operation. The St. Albert factory is in a new building near the mill. Last week it turned out 500 pounds of cheese, but this output will be largely increased. The factory at Paradis' turns out about 100 pounds of cheese a day. The manager of the St. Albert factory has large experience in cheese making. He says that a return of one pound of cheese to ten pounds of milk is the rule in the east, while here 8½ pounds of milk make a pound of cheese.

ON Thursday afternoon a little boy, about five years old, son of Isaac Ingram, was run over by a horse and seriously injured while returning from school. The injured boy, with a number of other children, was passing along Victoria Avenue when two horses ridden by T. Weekes and E. Williams came around a corner at speed. The horse ridden by Weekes struck the little boy with his knee, knocking him down senseless. He was picked up and taken into N. D. Beck's house where he was attended by the doctor, and afterwards removed to his home. He was severely bruised, but no bones were broken, and he was doing well at last accounts.

THE disease affecting the H. B. Co.'s herd of cattle, on Peace river, is certainly a very serious matter for that district, although it cannot possibly affect cattle in other parts of the Northwest, owing to the complete isolation of the whole Peace river district. The H. B. herd is composed of well bred animals imported in 1888, which have been kept at a ranch about 15 miles south of Dunvegan and far away from any other cattle in the district. The disease, whatever it is, appeared a year or two after the cattle were brought in and the first death occurred in 1891. Since the first, five or six more have died, and ten or twelve animals which were affected have been killed. So far only the herd of imported cattle or their offspring have been affected. The first symptom of the disease is heavy breathing, then a cough, the animal falling away in condition. It, however, fattens up after the disease has reached a certain stage, and when death occurs the animals are in good condition. The lungs are found to be much swollen. Animals under two years are not affected. It is not altogether certain what the disease is, but it has a sufficiently dangerous appearance to warrant the Dominion government in sending a qualified veterinary into that district and decisively settling the question as to what the disease is and what is to be done about it. Peace river is a fine country for cattle raising, and any settlement that is made there must depend chiefly on cattle raising for support, therefore it is most important that no disease should be allowed to get a foothold in the country at the start. In this case, as in every other, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. If the disease is contagious let it be stamped out and if not let everyone know that it is not.

The sales made by the Canadian Pacific Railway land department, at Winnipeg, for May, just ended, are the largest in the history of the Company since the days of the boom. During the month considerably over 66,000 acres were disposed of. The major portion of this was in Manitoba, and much of it in the southwestern portion of the province. For the corresponding period last year only about 12,000 acres were sold, the sales this year having increased five-fold. The greater portion was disposed of to actual settlers.

McCarthy and O'Brien are opposing the redistribution bill in the Commons. McCarthy replying to Bowell said he hoped he had not fallen so low as to accept the minister of railways as his leader. O'Brien said that if conservatives wished to read him out of the party the sooner they did so the better.

Oil City and Titusville, Pennsylvania, have suffered a terrible calamity. A naphtha tank in Oil City exploded and burning oil flowed on the water of the creek which had inundated both towns firing every house it touched. It is reported that 190 bodies had been recovered at last accounts.

Mrs. Mulvey, wife of Stewart Mulvey, one of the prominent pioneers of Winnipeg, is dead. M. Mulvey was an officer in the historic first expedition.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the BULLETIN,

SIR,—I have read your recent article upon the "Single Tax" with much interest, and though it is, perhaps, the best argument I have yet seen against its adoption, I think that something may still be said on the other side of the question. The BULLETIN asserts that "Wealth is labor stored in such form as to be available in exchange for other labor," and then in another place refers to land as a "form of wealth."

Now, Sir, you will probably admit that no wealth can be produced without labor; but land is not, and cannot, possibly, be produced by labor. The entire human race can never create or produce a simple atom of land. Wealth is not only past labor stored in a form convenient for exchange, or the satisfaction of need or desire. It is the result of the expenditure of productive labor upon lands or upon materials obtained from it, the land being as indispensably necessary for the production of any conceivable form of wealth as is labor itself. Again, you say that "land has no other value than that given by the hand of man." If this is the case, and the value of land depends on improvements alone, the question may be asked,—If the greatest city in the world (where, of course, the greatest amount of improvements on land exists) should suddenly become uninhabitable, what value would the enormous improvements there give to the land? As a matter of fact the value of land is not given to it by the hand of man. It is due to the presence of a population which must be supported by the use of land. Where population exists land has a value. This value may not be so great as that which figures on the blackboard of the real estate agent, but it is an actual value, nevertheless. It may be said that if land in itself has value it must be a "form of wealth"; but value should not be confused with wealth. For example, a promissory note, or a bankbill, has value, but the destruction of a bankbill, promissory note, or other evidence of debt, is no loss to the whole community at all, for what one man loses another would gain. Neither is value the same thing as utility, for nothing, however, useful it is of value, unless some person is willing to exchange labor, or the product of labor for it. The actual value of land may be measured by the degree of its superiority in point of location, convenience, (when not superior in capacity or quality) over that of any land which may be had for nothing. This value is created by the community as a whole, not by the labor of any one individual and attaches to the land irrespective of the presence or absence of improvements upon it. The proposition to tax land values, without regard to improvements, is, therefore, neither unjust nor suicidal, and so far from being based on entirely false premises rests upon grounds which cannot be disproved. It will not discourage the cultivation of land, because all branches of agriculture and all other industries are simply that form of co-operation, that a subdivision of labor, employed upon land and upon materials derived from it, which constitutes civilization itself. The only true encouragement that can be given to the use of that which is necessary to the existence of every human being is to make labor free to use any land not already in use. This, at present, is not done, and it will never be done by any improvement in the present system of taxation. Nothing can be more natural, more just or equitable than that land values, created by society as a whole, should be made the subject of all taxation. What can be more reasonable than that the value of land, which, according to Henry George, arises only as the need of some public or common revenue begins to be felt, which increases as population increases, and in proportion to the need of increased public revenue, should be taken for the benefit of the whole community?

Yours, respectfully,
A BELIEVER IN THE SINGLE TAX.

LOOKING BACK TO EGYPT.

The following letter has appeared in the Burk's Falls Arrow and Algoma Advocate, and will no doubt appear in every paper in the Parry Sound and Algoma districts of Ontario in the attempt to keep from going to a better country the people of those districts:

Edmonton, May 4th, 1892.

DEAR WIFE AND CHILDREN.—It has been very cold here and has snowed every day this week past. The snowplough had to come here from Calgary, on Thursday, as the road was blocked with snow; the thermometer went down to 22°. I have sold everything but Jess, Lill, the buggy and safe. I am trying for a cheap rate to Calgary, if I do not get it we will start to-morrow and drive there. The land here is good, but the climate is bad and we do not like it. It would not have been so bad if we had not been fooled so with Pearce and Irwin, the land they chose for us was all scrub and sand plains, there was some eight or ten that took land on the edge of it, but are not very well satisfied, and that is some 20 miles from here, east. Irwin has got his land north of the river, it seems some better, but is principally settled by Roman Catholics. I could not settle down here. The most of our people that came with us have taken farms on shares, or rented. There are a lot of us in town yet, some have lost horses and others cows; the cattle look bad. The ground is frozen solid and no growth as yet. I saw a nice mare sold yesterday for $26; anyone who had money could do well by buying from the new comers here, for we have to pay $5 per week for board and that is not half as good as I get at home, and 35c to 50c per meal. I will see more before I go back; do not write until you hear from us again.

Yours truly,

JOHN PAGET.

To say that the writer of the above is a liar is to do but slight credit to the great and versatile letter for prevarication in all its forms which this letter displays. Mr. Paget tells whole lies, half truths which are more damaging than lies, and whole truths in order to give the lies credit. When Mr. Paget says it was very cold here for the week ending May 4th he tells the truth. The thermometer did register 13 degrees of frost, something unheard of, of course, in northern Ontario, and such tropical climates, at that season of the year. When he, it snowed every day for the week preceding May 4th, he simply lied straight. On one morning there was enough snow to whiten the ground and that was all. Something again which he had never seen in the banana groves around lake Nipissing. The road was blocked with snow about 130 miles south of Edmonton, and the snow plow, that opened the blockade there, did come through to Edmonton, but it came to take out empty cars, not to buck snow. This introduction of the snow plough shows true genius. It is just as though a man living in Toronto should complain of the depth of snow there, when there was none, because the trains were blocked at lake Nipissing; something that occurs not infrequently. Mr. Paget says the land is good. He told the truth that time. But the climate is bad. How did he know that the climate was bad? He did not stay long enough to find out. It would not have been so bad had they not been so fooled by Pearce and Irwin. "The land they chose for us was all scrub and sand plain s. How did Messrs. Pearce and Irwin fool Mrs. Paget? If the land they chose did not have enough granite rock on it to suit the fastidious taste of Mr. Paget, the whole of the rest of the country was just as free to him as to any other British subject, or alien either, for that matter. But Mr. Paget did not look over the country to find out whether he could find a location to suit him or not. He did not wait to find out whether the climate was good or not. He came determined not to be suited, and he went away in a hurry for fear he would be, and wrote the letter quoted partly to show his literary ability and partly to prove to himself that he was right. His statement that on the 4th of May the ground was frozen solid yet is probably the most unadulterated falsehood in the lot. At that time nearly all the wheat seeding was finished and plowing had been going on all over the district for weeks. Indeed some of the members of the colony had already a considerable area of wheat in.

The BULLETIN has frequently pointed out that one great reason for the exodus of Canadians to the United States, instead of their coming to the Northwest, was the attempts of the local magnates, merchants, professional men, money lenders, politicians and newspapers to keep the people at home by decrying the Northwest, while at the same time paid agents of United States railway and land companies were actively working amongst them, painting the barren deserts of Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas in glowing colors. Far be it from this paper to misrepresent the advantages of even our own country, but when we can offer to the emigrating population of our country a more inviting field than can be found in any part of the United States, it seems hard to have such falsehoods as those contained in Mr. Paget's letter—for which he very likely has been well paid by some United States railway company—scattered broadcast by local newspapers all over Eastern Canada—papers who are not above taking so much a line from the same source for doing this as a dirty work.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, JUNE 13, 1892

AN ENERGETIC MISSIONARY.

Rev. J. Gough Brick, of Shaftsbury, Church of England mission, on Peace river, who is in town, has given the BULLETIN an account of his experiences in the manifold duties and responsibilities that devolve upon him in his work as an Indian missionary, and incidentally as a pioneer of civilization as well. Mr. Brick went to Peace river first in 1882, sent by the church missionary society, and spent five years at Dunvegan, the principal H. B. post on Peace river, and where the Indians most congregate. He had not lived long in Peace river before he became convinced that it was necessary to preach the gospel of love and bread to the Indians as well as the gospel of grace. Therefore in 1885, he commenced the cultivation of a farm at Old Wives lakes, on the upland in rear of Fort Dunvegan. At Dunvegan, on the low flat of the river, crop raising has been a perfect success for the past forty years, and he was anxious to try if the more inviting upland would do as well. The first crop grown at Old Wives lakes was moderately good. In 1886 the crop was splendid.—Encouraged by the results of these two years, and yet warned by them that the upland was not as certain for crop raising as the river flat, Mr. Brick projected his present mission on the flat on the north side of the river, about fifteen miles above the crossing of the Peace on the trail from Slave lake to Dunvegan, and about 50 miles below the latter place. A strip of level land extends along the river here for ten or fifteen miles, with more or less interruptions, and behind the bank of the river valley rises 2,000 feet to the level of the prairie above. To raise funds with which to go to work, Mr. Brick left Peace river in the spring of 1887 and spent the following year and a half in Ontario, raising money for his mission, and was successful in raising about $5,000. With this he purchased a complete farming outfit, including horses, cattle, poultry, a flour mill to run by horse power, a threshing machine, a reaping machine, mowing machine, wagons, etc., and returned to Peace river in the fall of '88, getting all his stock and most of his machinery through the same fall, and the remainder next spring. During the season of 1887 and 1888 Mr. Brick's sons put in crop at Old Wives lakes and in both years there was a total failure from frost. The winter of 1888-9 was very mild with little snow, which was of great advantage to the missionary as buildings to winter in had to be erected, and there was no one living there to assist. The season of 1889 was very dry, only two slight showers falling all season. The land had to be broken for

A handsome advertising poster has been received from the C. P. R. offices announcing the cheap June excursions to the Northwest. His pockets are full and his arms covered with farmers whom he—the C. P. R.—is carrying from Ontario to the Northwest. One pocket is occupied by a farmer and his family, the man holding out a flag on which is printed in red letters "To Edmonton, $40." The rates from any station in Ontario are: to Edmonton, $40; to Calgary, and Prince Albert, $35; and to Regina, $30, which includes return. Tickets will be sold on the 14th, 21st and 28th of June.
